MESSAGE FROM THE VICE-CHANCELLOR OF UPM

WELCOME TO UPM!

Thank you for your interest in Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM), one of Malaysia's leading research universities with a strong global presence in Asia and the world.

International students are very much an integral part of our academic life here at UPM. In order to enrich our students' learning experience and add value to their education, UPM has always opened its doors to alliances with local and international bodies. One of the strong partnerships we have cultivated over the years is with ELS Language Centres. As a highly recognised English language institution with a proven track record for academic excellence, ELS has been entrusted by UPM to assist students in acquiring the necessary English language competency for their studies.

Many international students at UPM have benefitted from ELS's on-campus presence since 2012. Through the Certified Intensive English Programme (CIEP) offered by ELS, international candidates are able to gain admission into UPM's undergraduate and postgraduate programmes without the need for additional proof of English proficiency.

ELS has further demonstrated their attention to quality education by obtaining international accreditation from the National ELT Accreditation Scheme (NEAS) Australia for the CIEP in 2019 and subsequently for the CIEP Online in 2020. I am confident that ELS will continue to be an important player in supporting our students' English language development and contributing to the international student recruitment at UPM. With onsite support from ELS, prospective students can rest assured that their English language needs will be attended to professionally.

To all prospective students, I look forward to your arrival at our green campus and your inclusion in the UPM community. I hope that you will get to experience the best of UPM, build meaningful friendships that last, and enjoy the beauty of our campus and country.

YBhg. Prof. Dato' Dr. Mohd Roslan Sulaiman

*Vice-Chancellor,

HOW DOES ELS COMPARE TO THE CEFR & IELTS?

The CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference) is a set of guidelines developed by the Council of Europe which describes foreign language ability at six different levels of proficiency: A1, A2, B1, B2, C1 and C2. The CEFR is also recognised by the Malaysian Ministry of Education as a language standard and is also used as a benchmark for IELTS and TOEFL®.

In 2016, an analysis of ELS Levels and the CEFR was conducted by Second Language Testing, Inc. (SLTI), a leading language assessment company. In the analysis, SLTI reviewed the ELS level objectives, materials and assessments for all four skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Below is a summary of how the ELS Levels correlate to the CEFR and subsequently, IELTS.

COMPLETED ELS LEVEL	CEFR	IELTS
109	B2	5.5 - 6.5
108
107	B1	4.0 - 5.0
